Ok, I finally found a project management software tool that actually works. I use it to keep track of projects and tasks and help my employees manage their assignments.

If you're looking for a free project management software program or want to keep track of employees assignments and the time spent on them, you should check it out. Even if your employees are off-site and don't have computer access they can use their mobile device to clock in so you can track and bill for time spent.

With the built in tools such as Project Management, Time Tracking, Performance Metrics, Employee Time sheets, Employee Scheduling, & Billing Tools this software simply helps plan your work and work your plan. Measure your employees performance. It's that old saying.. what gets measured gets done and this program definitely helps you measure.

What I like is that you don't have to install anything on your PC. It works with any browser as a new cloud application so there is nothing to install and nothing to download.

Let's face it, every successful business needs a way to allocate its resources, manage and audit it's work and employees, keep it's customers informed and happy, and to do all of this efficiently.

It's a rare employee who starts the day with aspirations of carefully tracking their time, regular correspondence to update the customers, and meticulous note keeping about their hourly progress.

Most just want to do their job, and would prefer some magic eye in the sky did all of that for them. If such a system exists, it's currently out of the price range most small businesses can afford. Not so any longer thanks to tools and companies like this.
